

Chapter 37

In Chapter 37 of "We Solve Murders," the characters Amy, Steve, and Rosie engage in a tense dialogue about the potential threats that Amy may face. Rosie questions whether someone named Jeff could acquire Amy's blood, but Amy defends Jeff, stating he warned her about dangerous individuals, Loubet and Joe Blow. The conversation shifts as Steve points out that Jeff was aware of Amy's whereabouts when multiple murders occurred.

The plot thickens when Amy mentions Henk van Veen, a former colleague who has been stealing clients since leaving the company, suggesting he could be a suspect. Rosie speculates that Henk might also be involved in eliminating clients to scare others away from Maximum Impact. Amy is uncertain about Henk's current location but suggests he would not know her movements.

Amy also brings up Susan Knox, Jeff's assistant, whom she believes would know both her location and possibly have access to her blood. Rosie proposes they should relocate to St. Lucia to continue their investigation, but Steve feels reluctant, having just settled into his new home. The discussion leads to the recognition that if Amy's blood is found at a crime scene, it could lead to severe consequences for her.

While contemplating their actions, Amy insists they must move, wanting to investigate the case of Bella Sanchez, a recent victim. Rosie backs her up, while Steve feels conflicted about leaving his new place. As tensions rise, Steve receives a call from Carlos, indicating someone named Eddie Flood is searching for Amy. This newfound danger pushes the group to consider St. Lucia as necessary refuge.

With the urgency mounting, the trio prepares to leave. Steve thinks of a way to divert Eddie's pursuit while still managing their investigation. As they plot their next move, Rosie mentions her pilot's availability, emphasizing they'll need to act quickly to evade any threats lurking nearby. Overall, the chapter intertwines suspenseful investigation dynamics with the characters' personal stakes, pushing them closer to action amidst growing danger.
